

Industrial concrete floor preparation

Larger construction and engineering companies now rely on Grit Blasting UK as a preferred sub-contractor because of our reliability and experience.

Floor preparation is an efficient & environmentally acceptable dust free method of preparing concrete surfaces. Grit Blasting UK uses our expertise and the latest in diamond floor grinding technology to provide a clean, professional finish ready for the application of surface treatments such as paint.

Grit Blasting UK is undertaking more and more floor preparation projects for contractors.

The demand for "out of town" warehouses, shopping centres, factories and other storage space is giving rise to the need for preparation of much bigger floor spaces, and required in a shorter time frame because of the tight deadlines on the overall building and construction jobs where cost control is critical.

Investing in the latest technology is key to reducing the timescales on bigger jobs such as floor preparation.

We maintain a fleet of diamond floor grinders applicable for any size of project, and the latest staff training ensures an efficient and highly skilled team familiar with the latest technique.

An understanding of the science behind the materials, the paint applications as well and the safety needs of the work and the after-care of the materials is also a key requisite of our work.

We undertake any size of floor preparation work & are experts in our field. 20 years experience.

Using Promains UK Ltd's technical expertise, and our surface preparation knowledge, we can provide end-to-end preparation solutions for your project.
