Keim Concretal Lasur was specified for walkway columns and the large gable ends where carbonation protection was required whilst retaining the natural look and feel of unpainted concrete. Keim Concretal Lasur has a translucent visual appearance which the architect specified to recreate the look of a new concrete finish, following extensive cleaning and repair of the concrete surfaces necessitated by over 30 years of deterioration. Keim Concretal W was used, colour matched to the existing concrete, where a more opaque finish was required but which still had a sympathetic finish to the existing concrete.
